

Elena Galitskaya

Soprano

Elena Galitskaya was born in Dimitrovgrad, Russia and is now based in Paris. She originally studied choral conducting at Dimitrovgrad Conservatory before deciding to study singing. She graduated from the Moscow Academy of Choral Arts in 2007.

Current highlights for the 2021/22 season and beyond include Pauline in a European tour of Offenbach's La Vie Parisienne with Marc Minkowski and a return to the Théâtre des Champs-Élysées to sing Amour Orphée et Eurydice by Gluck conducted by Thomas Heneglbrock.

Previous engagements include return invitations to Opéra de Dijon for Micaëla Carmen and La Monnaie, Brussels to sing Papagena Die Zauberflöte. She has also made house debuts singing Echo Ariadne auf Naxos for Festival d'Aix-en-Provence in the new Katie Mitchell production of Ariadne, repeated in her debut for Théâtre des Champs-Élysées, Paris; Contessa di Folleville Viaggio a Reims for Oper Graz and Lisette La Rondine for Théâtre du Capitole de Toulouse. Elsewhere, Elena has sung a highly successful Fiorilla Rossini Il Turco in Italia in Christopher Alden's production for Opéra de Dijon; Italian Singer in Strauss Capriccio for the Theater an der Wien and La Monnaie. She has also appeared as Sophie in Massenet Werther and Pamina at the Teatro Verdi, Trieste and the Teatro Massimo Bellini, Catania.

In 2009, Elena made her operatic debut with Opéra de Lyon, singing Lyusya in the Shostakovich operetta Moscow, Cheryomushki and was immediately re-engaged to sing Laurie Moss in Aaron Copland The Tender Land. Since then, roles at Lyon have included Zerlina Don Giovanni, Despina Così fan tutte, Barbarina Le nozze di Figaro, Frasquita Carmen, Italian Singer Capriccio, Ilia in Mozart Idomeneo and Eurydice in Gluck Orphée et Eurydice.

A keen recitalist, Elena has sung the Lieder of Schumann, Strauss and Wolf and the songs of Fauré, Shostakovich, Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff, Taneev and Rimsky-Korsakov at venues including the Festival d'Aix-en-Provence, De Singel Arts Centre, Antwerp, Opéra National de Lorraine and also in Paris, Liège, Nantes, Brussels and Bratislava.

The recipient of several awards, in 2011 Elena won the Belgian Radio and Television Audience Prize at the prestigious Queen Elizabeth International Singing Competition in Brussels. In 2010 she became an HSBC Laureate of the Académie Européenne de Musique of the Festival International d'Art Lyrique d'Aix-en-Provence and was also awarded a special prize at the International Francisco-Vinas Competition in Barcelona.

As at August 2021